BUILDING THE ECONOMY TOGETHER

Short-Term Economic Recovery Plan
June - December 2020
Towards a Better Future

Assalamualaikum and greetings to my fellow Malaysians

We are now living in unprecedented times of a global pandemic due to COVID-19. During this ongoing crisis, the Government recognises the challenges faced by individuals, businesses and the economy at large. We have taken and will continue to take swift and proactive action to protect lives, support businesses and strengthen the nation’s economy.

The Government has steered the country through these challenging times by taking an approach focused on 6 key steps: Resolve, Resilience, Restart, Recovery, Revitalize and Reform. We have now passed the first 3 stages: Resolve entailed addressing and containing COVID-19 by implementing the MCO; Resilience focused on protecting lives and livelihoods through the PRIHATIN Economic Stimulus packages while recently in May, the country stepped into the Restart phase which witnessed the reopening of economic sectors in an orderly and controlled manner.

On the verge of entering the 4th phase, Recovery, we remain focused on completing the nation’s current journey from Restart to Recovery by rolling out a set of strategic initiatives to propel forward the nation’s economic growth.

The Government now unveils PENJANA (Pelan Jana Semula Ekonomi Negara) or the National Economic Recovery Plan. This Government is committed to taking an inclusive and holistic approach to Malaysia’s economic recovery, and it is important to us that everyone is part of this journey. Towards this end, PENJANA will focus on 3 key thrusts - Empower People, Propel Businesses and Stimulate the Economy.

This booklet outlines the details of PENJANA's initiatives. God willing, may we find much blessing in this journey together towards a secure future for Malaysia.

Empower the People
The COVID-19 pandemic is a crisis like no other. It has led to one of history’s most challenging global humanitarian and health crises. To contain the virus and flatten the curve, Malaysia implemented the Movement Control Order (MCO) for almost two months, followed by the Conditional Movement Control Order (CMCO) which marked the reopening of our economy.

The repercussions brought about by COVID-19 in the past three months have impacted Malaysian lives and livelihoods, with up to 2 million jobs (~8% of the workforce) estimated to be at risk by end-2020. With potentially higher unemployment levels compared to the Global Financial Crisis 2008/09 and the Asian Financial Crisis 1997/98, it is imperative for Malaysia to take bold measures to protect and empower our people over the short term.

Under the PRIHATIN Economic Stimulus Packages announced in March and April 2020, the Government has helped save over 2.4 million jobs, while easing cashflow concerns for about 11 million Malaysians from the B40 and M40 income groups. In addition, with Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) crafted for various sectors, the gradual and careful restart of the economy from 4 May 2020 has since enabled over 12.7 million people (~83.5%) to return to work. Nevertheless, more efforts are required to enable other economic sectors, particularly those in the negative list, to reopen, while also ensuring the safety and health of workers and the Rakyat.

Under the new norm, striking a balance between protecting lives and promoting livelihoods is neither easy nor simple. That balance is a pre-requisite to restoring consumer confidence which, in turn, is crucial to stimulate consumption and generate growth.

In empowering our people, the Government’s measures under PENJANA aim to save jobs and promote employment, while ensuring the people have enough to live on. Apart from hiring incentives and expanded wage subsidy, reskilling and training are equally crucial to ensure workers maintain or upgrade their skills for when the economy recovers.

Additionally, COVID-induced new norm has also forced a dramatic change in how we work and interact. Hence, it is equally important for the Government to provide an enabling ecosystem to help workers’ return to work, and adapt to new ways of working. These include incentivising technology adoption to facilitate remote learning and working from home. To that end, vulnerable members of society, such as the elderly, the differently-abled, students in rural areas, the B40 community and the urban poor continue to be supported to ensure their general welfare is taken care of.

It is the Government’s hope that these measures will help empower Malaysians to navigate through these unprecedented times, as we begin to nurture the nation’s economic recovery.
Wage Subsidy Programme

OBJECTIVE
To promote employee retention and reduce layoffs by extending the wage subsidy programme

The wage subsidy programme will be extended for a further three months with a subsidy of RM600 per employee for all eligible employers.

The current wage subsidy program will also be enhanced as follows:

- Allow employers receiving wage subsidy to implement reduced work week (e.g. 4-day work week with a reduced pay of 20%).
- Allow employers to receive wage subsidy for employees on unpaid leave, subject to employees receiving the subsidy directly (only applicable for tourism sector and businesses which are prohibited from operating during CMCO).

Propel Businesses
Businesses – large, SMEs and micro – were impacted during the MCO as efforts to combat COVID-19 intensified. With most economic sectors closed for nearly two months, businesses were unable to operate, affecting revenue and income streams. Consequently, many businesses, especially SMEs and micro-enterprises, faced cashflow challenges with the payment of salaries and premise rentals cited as the two biggest costs.

Under the PRIHATIN Economic Stimulus Packages, the Government supported businesses through a raft of measures aimed at saving jobs and easing cashflow challenges. This included the Wage Subsidy Programme, waivers for rental of business premises, as well as facilities such as the Special Relief Facility (SRF) and various micro-credit schemes. Many of these measures are still ongoing.

The reopening of the economy in May has seen an uptick in commercial activity as more workers gradually returned to the workforce. As at 2 June, this amount involved just over 12.7 million or 83.5% workers. Nevertheless, certain sectors such as tourism, entertainment and sports will require a longer recovery period as both consumers and operators adjust to the new norm.

With demand concerns rising due to low consumer confidence, it is imperative to stimulate consumption which contributes over 60% to Malaysia’s economy. During MCO alone, 66% of businesses experienced a drastic drop in demand that made it difficult to sustain a business. On the flipside, e-commerce was increasingly becoming a preferred medium compared to brick-and-mortar. Unfortunately, 25% of businesses still lacked the e-commerce infrastructure to take advantage of the growth in online shopping.

Under PENJANA, measures will be introduced to enable workers and businesses to sustain operations and gradually enhance productivity. Support will be given to social enterprises to diversify economic activity. Targeted assistance will be put in place to regenerate the most affected economic sectors, while initiatives to increase consumer confidence and consumption will be launched. In addition, enabling businesses to go through training and digital adoption will be key as businesses equip themselves for the new norm.

Stimulate the Economy
COVID-19 has forever changed the way the Malaysian economy operates. With disruptions to the global supply chain, changes in consumption habits, and new operating procedures impacting business processes, participants of the Malaysian economy need to recalibrate and realign within this new norm.

While the first quarter of 2020 saw the Malaysian economy grow at 0.7%, however, according to the World Bank, it is expected that overall GDP growth for 2020 could be as low as -4.6%. The Government has taken proactive steps to stem the economic slowdown and the PRIHATIN Economic Stimulus Packages are expected to contribute an estimated 2.8% to GDP growth. Nevertheless, more is required to stimulate the economy, and to enable its recovery by 2021 and beyond. With international agencies forecasting Malaysia’s GDP growth to be between 4.7% and 9%, the outlook is positive, subject to the public health situation being under control.

PENJANA is our signal to the world that we are open for business. Economic recovery is dependent on public and private consumption which are dynamically intertwined, feeding into a virtuous cycle of social and economic benefit. Malaysia must find and capitalise on opportunities in the new norm, especially in the digital space, in order to develop its competitive advantage. Investors need to be reminded why Malaysia is ranked 12th globally, and 3rd within Asia Pacific, on ease of doing business. Now, more than ever, it becomes more critical for Malaysia to promote itself as a business destination.

With certain sectors of the economy more severely affected others – including tourism, arts, culture, entertainment and agriculture – PENJANA will provide targeted sectoral and systemic support to help them adapt and grow in the new norm operating landscape. Additionally, with initiatives to encourage consumption of local products and services, PENJANA is set to enable the Malaysian economy recalibrate, rebound and recover.
